

Why You Should Care About Where Your Content Originates From!

If you have been sitting on the wall waiting for the right time to start creating content sites again then that time has arrived.

Google as with all the major search engines has realized the only way to stay on top is by making sure that their searches are fine tuned and relevant to the request the person searching has input which means not showing duplicate content sites.

Imagine the Unimaginable; Unlimited Unique Content Articles

What if you can get someone to write almost unlimited pages of unique content that has never been published anywhere in the world, just for you!

Now, I am not talking about old, reworked garbage spun from a script, we're talking billions of pages of ultra-fresh content created by a real human being (yes you did read that correctly, I mean literally billions) and importantly, it has been secretly tested for nearly a year.

Spoilt for choice

Whether you market using blogs, adsense, membership sites or email, the list is endless; you can fresh content for it that Google will love and no more rewrites.

For many this tool will be the only one they will ever need to buy iContentRobot is going to be huge and the impact it will have on article marketing, equally big as thousands of people will never have to deal with finding content for their sites ever again.

Forget everything you know about article content spinning because the world is about to change, which means no more fiddling with PLR content, unreadable gibberish, submission failures etc. etc.

Speed may kill on the road but on the web this is what we need. It is possible to generate an article and post it to a blog or site almost as quicker than a Mustang can reach 60 miles per hour from a standing start; under 4.5 seconds.

When was the last time you had a day off from your Internet business? I bet since you started working on the internet you have stopped if not reduced your social life; the reason is you hardly get time to get away from your desk because you are too busy getting content created to get on your website.

About the Author

Tony Tan writes cool stuff. Get more of it at Free Click Formula Tony Tan

Source: <http://www.alphacsi.net>